From: John Edgar Hoover - Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation

Subject: Juan Domingo Peron - Argentina

(U) As of possible interest to you, information has been received from a source which has previously furnished reliable information and who is thought to be reliable in this instance to the effect that Juan Domingo Peron is considerably worried about the contents of any statements which General Friedrich Wolf may have made to Allied authorities about his activities in Argentina. Peron has made some efforts to obtain a copy of Wolf's statements. (X)

(U) The same source advised that Peron is apparently not worried about statements which may have been made by Von Thermanns or other subjects. (X)

Re: Colonel Juan D. Peron
Buenos Aires, Argentina

Source C: The following information was obtained from Colonel JUAN D. PERON was born in the city of Lobos, Province of Buenos Aires, on October 8, 1895, where he resided with his parents until the age of five. At that time (1900), his family moved to the town of Rio Gallegos in the governmental territory of Santa Cruz, where he lived for five more years. It wasn't until 1905 that Peron's parents moved to Buenos Aires, where he finished his primary schooling and began his term of secondary instruction. Before reaching the age of sixteen, he entered the National Military Academy. On December 13, 1913, he graduated as a Sublieutenant ("Sub-teniente") in the Infantry Corps from this school at the age of eighteen. He was at once attached to the Infantry Regiment No. 12, "General Arenales", where he served until March 15, 1915, when he was commissioned as an aide to Military District No. 58. He was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant ("Teniente") on December 31st of the same year.

On October 8, 1917, Lt. Juan Peron began participating in the "Campaign of the Arsenal Esteban de Luco" ("Campana del Destacamento del Arsenal Esteban de Luco") as aide to the Unit's Commander. On January 16, 1918, he became commander of said unit. His promotion to First Lieutenant (Primer Teniente) became effective on December 31, 1919, and he was transferred as an instructor to the school of Non-Commissioned Officers "Sargento Cabral". In this institution he promoted athletics and organized outstanding courses for instructors. After six years in this school, he was promoted to the rank of Capitan on December 31, 1924.

He enrolled in the Superior War School on April 15, 1925, and completed the cycle of studies in this higher institution. After different study trips, he obtained his diploma as an officer of the General Staff.

On February 26, 1929, he was made a part of the General Staff of the Army, where he undertook duties in the Operations Division. On September 12, 1930, he was designated to serve in the Ministry of War. The 1st of December of the same year, he was named professor of Military History at the Superior War School, at the same time continuing with his work at the Ministry. In 1932 he was appointed camp aide to the Minister of War, General Manuel A. Rodriguez, and at the same time staying on as a professor.

During this period he published his book "The Oriental Front of the War of 1914 - Strategic Studies". The 15th of November of 1933, he was appointed permanent professor at the Superior War School with the chair of his choice. He specialized in the doctrinary studies of the execution and history of war and produced the work entitled "Notes on Military History - Theory". The following year he published his third work "The Russian - Japanese War" in three volumes. They were followed by "Military Operations in 1870", (two volumes). He has since devoted himself to the preparation of an historic-military work, on the personality of General San Martin, which he has not finished because of the presence of other tasks.

In January, 1936, he was appointed Military Attache in Chile and on December 31, 1936, he was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel. A few months later, on April 7, 1937, his duties at the Embassy were expanded to include those of Air Attache. After two years of residence in Chile, he returned to Argentina on March 24, 1938, and was transferred to the Operations Division of the Mayor General Staff of the Army. As professor of Combined Operations in the School of Naval Warfare, he was entrusted with a study trip through Patagonia and the Comodoro Rivadavia region.

On February 17, 1939, he sailed for Europe, where he studied the command and organization of mountain troops. With this in mind, he joined the Command of the Tridentine Alpine Division in Tyrol, to pass later to the Mountain Infantry Pinerolo Division at Abruzzo and finally to the Alpine and Ski School of Aosta and the Ski School of Sestriere. He remained in Europe until January 8, 1941, visiting France, Germany, Hungary, Albania and Spain, having the opportunity to live through and observe the initial events of the great war.

His specialization in the command of mountain troops which he acquired in Europe, influenced his superiors to send him in his capacity of a specialized officer of the General Staff to the headquarters of Mountain Instruction. He was appointed director of said unit on June 17, 1942. He also held the command of the "Mendoza" Mountain Troop Detachment, where he participated in the final manoeuvres held on the Diamante Lake. He held this post until he was transferred to the Inspection of Mountain Troops. He was made a Colonel on June 30, 1942, and was appointed director of the special courses of High Mountain and Winter, which were held at Puente del Inca, in August of the same year.

He was one of the principal instigators of the Revolution of June 4, 1943. On the same day of the revolution he was appointed Chief of the General Staff of the First Division of the Army. Several days later he assumed the position of head of the Secretaryship of the Ministry of War. Appointed president of the extinct National Department of Labor, he organized the Department of Labor and Social Welfare ("Secretaria de Trabajo y Prevision"), outlining the reforms which from the day of its formation, have become implanted in this aspect of the nation's activity. The President appointed him head of this new Department on November 29, 1943, a post which he held along with his other duties.

On March 18, 1944, he was appointed acting Secretary of State in the War Department, this appointment being confirmed by Government Decree of May 4, 1944. Colonel Peron was appointed to the Vice-Presidency of the Nation on July 7, 1944. He took the oath of office on the following day.

Later, by superior decree of the President, he assumed the presidency of the National Council of Postwar to direct the solution to the economic and social problems which the country shall have to endure.

Colonel Peron resigned from the offices which he held on October 9, 1945. He later requested to be retired from active service in the Army, a request which was conceded to him on October 17, 1945. His services totaled 40 years, 10 months and 8 days.

[redacted] in Buenos Aires, made available information about Eva Duarte de Peron by radio-gram dated July 29, 1946. You will recall that Senora de Peron, as Eva Duarte, acquired considerable fame or at least notoriety in her days as an actress, radio performer and mistress of then Colonel Peron. Shortly prior to his election as President, Peron married Evita Duarte.

[redacted] advised that contrary to Argentine tradition, Duarte has become the first woman to assume a prominent role in Argentine political life. Because of her background as a notorious mistress, she has become the subject of numerous jokes and much gossip. While she is regarded with contempt by most of the members of Argentine society, she is admired by many in the poorer classes for her beauty, poise and position. It is rumored, although not confirmed, that she has frequently injected herself into meetings between Peron and high Government officials and has incurred the bitter animosity of Vice President Quijano, Minister of War Sosa Molina, Chief of Police General Velazco, and others. She constantly appears in public with Peron and makes speeches in his behalf. She has received numerous women workers' delegations and now has an office in the Federal Post Office Building for the purpose of receiving such delegations.

It may be recalled that the only serious difficulty which Peron has encountered in his political odyssey occurred in October, 1945, when insurgent troops at the principal military establishment (Campo 25 de Mayo) deposed Peron and held him prisoner for about ten days. It was said at the time that the real reason for the rebellion among the officers was the appointment by Peron of a relative of Evita to the important position of Director of Posts and Telegraphy.

Any interesting developments in connection with Eva Duarte will be called to your attention.

MR. BRANIGAN

(PERON)

REP. T. JAMES TUMULTY (D-N.J.) COMPLAINED THAT OUSTED DICTATOR JUAN PERON OF ARGENTINA IS STAYING IN A PANAMA HOTEL OWNED BY THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

HE CALLED ON THE STATE DEPARTMENT AND THE ARMY FIRST TO THROW PERON OUT OF THE HOTEL AND SECOND TO ASK THE PANAMANIAN GOVERNMENT "TO TELL THIS BUM TO HIT THE ROAD."

TUMULTY, WHO MADE A TRIP TO THE CANAL ZONE IN DECEMBER WITH A HOUSE MERCHANT MARINE SUBCOMMITTEE, SAID PERON IS A GUEST AT THE HOTEL WASHINGTON IN CRISTOBAL IN THE REPUBLIC OF PANAMA, WHERE HE HAS OBTAINED ASYLUM.

HE SAID THE HOTEL IS OWNED BY THE PANAMA CANAL CO., WHICH, HE SAID, IS A COMPLETELY-CONTROLLED U.S. GOVERNMENT CORPORATION.

TUMULTY SAID HE HAS KEPT SILENT SINCE DECEMBER IN THE BELIEF THAT PERON WOULD SHOW SOME REPENTENCE FOR HIS "OUTRAGES" IN ARGENTINA. BUT HE SAID HE WAS PROVOKED TO PROTEST BY PERON'S RECENT STATEMENT THAT HE WOULD PURGE 1,000,000 OF HIS ENEMIES IF HE EVER RETURNS TO POWER.

"WE SHOULDN'T HAVE TO PUT UP WITH EVERY MURDERER THAT COMES ALONG," TUMULTY SAID. "THE HOTEL WOULDN'T TOLERATE AN OBNOXIOUS DRUNK. PERON SHOULD BE TREATED LIKE ANY OTHER UNDESIRABLE."

HE SAID HE BELIEVES THE PANAMANIAN PEOPLE DO NOT WANT PERON IN THEIR MIDST. HE ALSO PREDICTED THAT THE PANAMANIAN GOVERNMENT WOULD ASK HIM TO LEAVE IF PRODDED BY THIS COUNTRY, DESPITE THE TRADITIONAL LATIN AMERICAN PRINCIPLE OF POLITICAL ASYLUM.

Re Madrid letter 1-15-60.

The following item appeared in the Joint
Weeka No. 2 of the Embassy here dated 1-15-60.

"1. PERON GIVEN PERMISSION TO RESIDE IN SPAIN

"Confirming reports received from Ciudad Trujillo and Buenos Aires, a Foreign Office official has informed the Embassy that General Juan PERON has been granted a visa to reside in Spain. The favorable decision was made personally by General FRANCO, and was described as simply in line with Spain's policy of granting asylum to political refugees. The Argentine Government had been consulted, he said, and had no objection. The source added, however, that if he made use of his visa, Peron would be required to remain completely aloof from politics." (CONFIDENTIAL)

"Comment: The Foreign Office spokesman indicated that Peron's derogatory remarks concerning Franco would never be forgiven by the latter, but that the Generalissimo had resolved not to let his personal feelings influence the decision. It was indicated, in addition, that the Spanish Government still felt some gratitude for Peron's support of the Franco regime during its 'dark days' of the 1940's." (CONFIDENTIAL)

"In view of the above there would appear to be no necessity for the Bureau to comply with the request contained in reference letter to advise whether information had been received indicating that PERON might be coming to Spain. The Madrid Office will continue to follow this matter in order that the Bureau might be advised when and if PERON and his party do arrive here."

Information has been received indicating that Castro has agreed to furnish money and material to the Peronista Movement (PM) to return ex-dictator Juan Peron to power in Argentina. Castro reportedly has already furnished $250,000 and Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria and Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic have promised support. Attorney General, White House and Secretary of State being advised by attached letters. (U)

The source,

(U)  X  stated,  his duties are to help organize the economic and political aspects of proposed revolution to accomplish the above. To obtain money for this he planned on the sale of unnamed commodities on an international basis wherein part of the proceeds would assist the PM.  stated $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 was needed. (U)

(U)  claimed to be a friend of Ernesto "Che" Guevara, an official in the Cuban Government, and as a result of this, had exclusive rights to handling of Cuban tobaccos in Europe. He told the source he had spoken with Castro and received promise of maximum support including money and material. Castro allegedly told  that $250,000 had been realized as a result of a recent sugar transaction between Cuba and Czechoslovakia and this money had been given to PM leader in Madrid, Spain. (U)

(U) Castro reportedly gave instructions to Cuban Embassies in Central and South America making these embassies the center of organization and activities for the PM. Castro also reportedly furnished the cost for transportation to Madrid, Spain, of Latin-American communist leaders who would meet with Peron apparently in late March, 1963.

(U) [ ] claimed support of Ahmed Ben Bella and Gamal Abdol Nasser and certain Latin-American countries he had visited. The PM would also accept Red Chinese but not Russian assistance, and [ ] contemplated trip to Red China for this purpose. Peron reportedly believes scheduled June, 1963, elections in Argentina will not take place and that a military dictatorship will be established. Peron will use this as excuse to support acts of sabotage and violence and begin his revolution to save Argentina. (X)

(U) Our files disclose that [ ] and [ ] are well known to each other and both have been associated with the Cuban Government; [ ] with the government of Batista and [ ] with the Castro government. We have information indicating contact between Peron's followers and the Castro government. As it appears the above may possibly have some foundation in fact, and since [ ] is to return to U. S. and have contact again with our source, an interview with him concerning his allegations would be desirable to further develop them and to determine if any U. S. ramifications. However, as it appears New York's source is the only person in this country that has knowledge of the reported plan, New York's observations and recommendations should be obtained concerning this interview. Re: JUAN DOMINGO PERON

On February 11, 1964, a confidential source abroad advised that JUAN DOMINGO PERON, former Argentine dictator, who is presently residing in Madrid, Spain, was recently discharged from a hospital in Madrid, where he had been under treatment for prostate trouble. Source explained that subject is afflicted with cancer of the prostate but that he has been successfully treated and that the cancer is regarded as arrested. Source added that subject's physical difficulties are not regarded as debilitating and that the prognosis indicates that subject can resume normal activities.

Source remarked that subject is reported to have stated that he plans to return to Argentina during 1964. Source commented that, of course, subject's return to Argentina is dependent upon many unforeseeable factors and that his return to Argentina during 1964 is dubious at best.

In accordance with Bureau instructions, sources have been alerted to promptly furnish any info which they receive or are in a position to develop bearing upon plans of PERON to return to Argentina.

(U) As ref airtel points out, rumors concerning a return to Argentina by PERON are circulated from time to time. However, it is a firm consensus of opinion [among sources of this office,] as well as Embassy representatives, that the likelihood of an actual return by PERON at present or in the foreseeable future, in spite of his wife's presence here, is extremely remote. The reasons for such belief are: 1) the failure of PERON's first attempt to return to Argentina in late 1964; 2) the fact that PERON as well as the Peronists in Argentina are fully aware that an actual return on his part, even were it arranged clandestinely, would result in a political upheaval that in turn would end with anti-Peronist military forces in firm control of the country, with the Peronists themselves being severely persecuted and repressed; and 3) last but not least is the fact that PERON is, by all accounts, a physical coward, who would not dare risk his life or physical well being, which he would certainly do if he attempted an actual return to Argentina.

It is pointed out further that a certain advantage accrues to PERON and the Peronists through maintaining or creating rumors to the effect that he will return. It is a part of the "war of nerves" which they wage for political advantage within Argentina.

(U) In summing up it is, [as previously pointed out, a majority opinion of contacts of this office] which is fully shared by the Legal Attache, that PERON has no intention of trying to return to Argentina; however, it can be expected that these rumors will continue. I feel that the Bureau will be on sound ground in taking a position in accordance with the foregoing in the event a question of PERON's return is raised with the Bureau by other government agencies.

(U) While it is not believed that PERON plans a return to Argentina, [sources have been thoroughly impressed with the absolute necessity that they closely scrutinize and investigate rumors to this effect and promptly communicate any positive evidence of a return to this office at the earliest possible moment] ~~is~~

Re: Juan Peron

A source advised on February 2, 1966, that he returned from Buenos Aires, Argentina, during the latter part of December, 1965, having stayed in Buenos Aires for 17 days. He stated that the Peronists are very active in Buenos Aires at this time and, according to a recent poll, can control the majority of the votes. He advised that Mrs. Juan Peron's presence in Argentina has aided in bringing some of the factions of the Peronist movement together.

The source stated that Juan Peron does not have any intention of returning to Argentina as "the head of government". However, he would like to return to Argentina as the "power behind the throne". He stated that Peron is 70 years old and definitely would not attempt to return to power.
